Mr. P. B. Weisiger is now postmaster of Manchester. He and his corps of clerks assumed actual charge of the office yesterday morning at 7 c'clock. Mr. D. L. Toney and his assistant, Mr. John B. Goode, and Clerks Robert C. White with the Republican dictate from Washington, gave over the office Friday evening at closing time, and yesterday morning at 7 o'clock the office opened under the new control. As anticipated siready. Mr. John W. Fisher received the appointment of assistant postmester, and the clerks are John French, a son of ex-Judge S. Basset French, and Charles W. Harris, the negro chairman of the City Republican Committee.

It is understood that Mr. White, of the clerks under Mr. Toney, was appronched by Mr. Weisiger, and the privilege extended him to continue in his osition, but the young man declined. ir. Toney and his subordinates retire, the entire confidence and good

The Precinct "Reach," in Chesterfield, was the place of assembly of a large number of voters last night to hear the Democratic nominees for the House speak; and, also, their congressman, Cap-tain John Lamb. Messrs. Owen and Wood were given a royal and enthusias-tic reception, as was Captain Lamb. Mr. E. B. Howle, the Independent Re-iblican candidate for the House, spoke last night at Blecher's store, in ounty, to the Lamb Republicans. Howle is a Lambite, and came out to represent the faction dissatisfied with the action taken by the recent Republican convention in endorsing Mr. Hobson, the choice of the Populists. His follow-ers have adopted resolutions condemning this action and expressing sympathy with the action of the Lynchburg convention in nominating a State ticket. SUGAR-BEET INDUSTRY.

Mr. Rowland, of the Chronicle, leaves to-morrow morning for the farms of Chesterfield along the river in the interest of the sugar-beet industry, which he is lending his efforts to introduce. While out of the city he will visit Charles City county and Prince George for the sake of his cause, and probably, Thursday, at Chester, he will meet assembled farmers for conference. This is an undertaking for which the people of these counties aliculd feel deeply grateful to Mr. Rowland, and he has every reason to expect their advice, sympathy, and entire converging as they it is who are going operation as they it is who are going of insurance policies. The substance of the case is just this: In 1836, Mr. E. C. McCullock, a prominent merchant of Blackstone, took out a policy in the Equitable for $15,000. He immediately assigned it to his children, being at the time a widower. Mr. Mc-Cullock fatled in business in 1882 and in making an assignment named Mr. G. S.

TIXIE CHORUS ENTERTAINS.

The Confederate Cantata Given at the North-Side Hall.

The "Dixle Chorus," an organization of Church Hill lads and lassies, by invitation, gave a repetition of the popular Cantata Friday evening at the Northand William Gilliam, in accordance Side Hall, of Highland Park. The trip to the hall was made by a special car over the lines of the Richmond Railway and Electric Company, through the courtesy of the road. This "chorus" has won for itself many plaudits, and the reputation for giving thoroughly enjoyable entertainments was ably sus-tained. The cantata was given in full, and after it a number of miscellaneous features deserving especial mention were the "Dixie Drill," under the direction of Mr. Charley E. Woodward, which elicited long applause; Miss "Tely" Wcodward's cute solo; solos by Misses Lillie and Dollie Christian; duets by Misses Fannie Gill and "Tely" Wood ward, Misses Dollie Christian and "Tely Woodward, and Misses Lillie and Mat-tle Christian; declamations by little Miss Blanchie Bickers, and dialect recitations in character costume, by Mr. Charles H. Smith-all well rendered. Miss Maude Gili accompanied the songs with the piano. "Uncle Sam" and "Dixie" too their original parts, and were cordially received, "Uncle Sam" working in a prohibition argument very cleverly.

After the entertainment the "chorus" was treated to refreshments in the basement of the hall by the ladies of the Ald Society of the Methodist church, for the benefit of which the entertainment was

CAPT. CRAWFORD'S RESIGNATION. First Regiment and the Inspector's

Captain C. A. Crawford, of Company

D, who was placed under arrest in August for not filing his report at the proper time, had a conference with the Governor last week, as a result of which the Captain's resignation will probably be withdrawn. Captain Crawford complained that the wrong form was sen to him, and he was, therefore, unable to make his report, and that his frequent tions made before the time expired for his report to be submitted were disregarded. If the recommendation of the Inspector-General that Companies D and G of the First Regiment shall be disbanded because they do not reach the legal standard is followed, there will only be five companies left, and the old organization would be reduced to a battalion. The movement, commenced with so much energy, to get new uniforms for the regiment appears to have fallen flat.

The committee appointed to confer with the Governor has not yet held an interview with his Excellency, and the interest seems to have languished.

There is a movement on foot to form a company of Zouaves. It has met with much favor. It is proposed that an attractive uniform shall be purchased and wooden arms used. The company will not be subject to the military rules and regulations of the State militia, but will be a social organization. The plans are

The club, purely a social organization, made up of "well-to-do" business-men of Camden, left that city Friday and went direct to Petersburg, spending yeaterday in visiting the battle-fields around that city. They came over here in time for dinner at the Jefferson, and will spend to-day in sight-seeing. The party is a jovial one in every respect, and taken all in all, is as happy as a lot of school boys on a lark. Messrs. Frank C. Somers and Isaac Doughten are the treasurer and mana-ger, respectively, of the trip, and while at dinner at the Jefferson last evening they were taken by surprise, Mr. Somers being presented with a handsome diamond-studded Shriner's pin, and Mr. Doughten with an equally diamond-studded heart charm. A. Armstrong, of the club, made the pre-sentation speech, and Messrs. Somers and Doughten replied in happy expressions of their thanks.

UNIQUE AND BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY. Messrs. W. S. Hugg & Co. Will Open

Their New Store Next Monday. Their New Stere Next Monday.

The nineteenth century is closing upon an era of luxury, the like of which has never been excelled in the world's history. "The Home Beautifu!" has become almost a second religion, and many houses now are the repositories of costllest art treasures. The demand for beautiful ornaments and house appointments appears to grow by what it feeds upon, and responsive to this demand the art centres and the factories of the world are turning out the most exquisite articles for the adornment of the home.

In this connection, it is interesting to note the appearance on Broad street, the great retail centre of the city, of a new firm, whose boast it is that they carry a complete line of useful and ornamenta articles for the house, from the lowest to the highest prices, selected from all the great potteries and art works, and the leading factories of Europe, Asia, and America.

Mesars, W. S. Hugg & Co. (incorporated), will throw open the doors of their new store at No. 109 east Broad street next Monday morning. The firm is composed of Mr. W. S. Hugg, of Baltimor who for a number of years has been the buyer of one of the largest jobbing and retail bouses in the Monumental City, and with Mr. W. M. Miller as manager, who for sixteen years has been connected with the well known firm of E. B. Taylor & Co., and who is one of the most popular salesmen in the city Thus it will be seen that the firm is no callow fledgling, but the senior members bring to it the widest and the most com-plete experience possible, both in the selection of wares and in catering to the public taste. Any doubt as to this fact may be instantly set at rest by a visit to the new store. The display of bricabrae, costly wares, glass, cutlery, silver and tin and woodenware, is almost bewildering, yet one is immediately struck with the superior taste and tact exerwith the superior taste and tast exercised in its display. The store itself has been decorated artistically, the walls, where visible, are covered with a paper of delicate blue tint, and the show-cases and the tables are of white and gold. The house is lighted throughout with incandescent lights. At the entrance to the store two handsome cases of quarters are the case of guarantees are the store two handsome cases of quarters. tered oak, finely carved, stand to the right and left, with bevelled plate-glass mirrors inside, and throughout the store the shelves are arranged on the buffet plan. The show tables are four feet square, and so placed that visitors or customers can walk 'round them. This is a feature which does not exist in any store this side of New York. On the ground floor is a sample of everything in stock, so the purchaser has no steps to climb. The store-rooms, up and down stairs, are filled with goods. In the rear of the store are samples of everything pertaining to housefurnishings, and an unique feature of this interesting exhibition is an arrangement whereby seven-

The markets of Italy, France, Gormany, and England are represented by their finest wares. Dresden, Sevres, Venetian, Royal Bonn, Tiplitz, Worcester, and Flemish ,and Franz Josef deco-

Clocks, trays, and 5-o'clock tea sets, chafing dishes, dressing table sets, and bisque goods in new designs, are conspicuous, and the connoisseur will be attracted by the new, dark-green color in Wedgewood ware. The seeker after noveltles will rejoice in the Klondike glass, which must be seen to be appreciated. There is a really fine selection of banquet lamps, only tables, and a rare display of cut-glass and tableware in silver, plate, and steel. Altogether, it is one of the finest dis-plays of the kind ever seen in Richmond rooms this season.
